PRACTICAL INFORMATION

AVOID DANGEROUS ROUTES

If you decide to hike up to the Nature Reserve, always choose safe and well-marked trails. Some areas can be dangerous due to their steepness, narrowness, or the presence of monkeys.

AREA TO AVOID

Wall of Charles V

This route can be dangerous because it is steep, narrow in some sections and quite high. In addition, there are often monkeys in the area, which can make passing through even more difficult.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Follow wide and well-marked paths

Do not take shortcuts or unknown routes

Keep your distance from the monkeys

Wear comfortable and safe shoes

If in doubt, consult your guide

IMPORTANT

Visiting Gibraltar is free. If you decide to hike up, do so with caution and always choose the route that best suits your physical condition.
